SHOW AND TELL

Kira's best toy, called Nabbit the Rabbit, has had some bad luck. To read what happened to it, you'll have to put in the missing words.

tree   liked school   miss picked   fetch pocket   rabbit

Every morning, Kira tries her best not to _____ the bus to school. Today, Thursday, it was her turn to Show and Tell. It was me, her toy _____ , that she was taking to show the class.

She _____ up her bag and her lunch. Then she ran out of the door. I was sitting on the sofa. She had to come back to _____ me. I'm too big to be stuffed into her _____ , so she grabbed me by the ears. Off we went.

I was dragged along the garden path. I was scratched by a branch of a _____ . My foot got stuck in the gate. Then the bus whizzed by. Kira had to run all the way to _____ . It started to rain before we got there.

I hope the class _____ the look of her dirty, scratched and soggy toy. I didn't mind. I don't mind anything. I'm a toy.

I TASTE REALLY BAD!

Ladybirds are very common. Here is some information about them.

Ladybirds eat lots of aphids. Aphids are tiny green insects that eat roses and other plants. This is why gardeners and farmers like ladybirds so much.

Ladybirds lay hundreds of eggs among masses of aphids and similar pests. Within a few weeks of hatching, the grub could easily have eaten up to 5000 aphids.

The bright red colour and black spots of ladybirds not only make them easy to see, but also help to protect them.

A ladybird under threat of being eaten can pretend to be dead. Also, nasty yellow stuff will ooze out of its legs. This tastes really bad and warns predators to leave it alone.

1. Why do gardeners and farmers like ladybirds so much?

2. How many aphids can a ladybird grub eat in just a few weeks?

3. When they're in danger, what are the two things they do?

   1) _____

   2) _____
